

California Proposition 65

We include Proposition 65 warnings to help our customers make informed decisions about the products they purchase. California Proposition 65 requires businesses to notify California residents about products that may contain chemicals known to the State of California to cause cancer and birth defects or other reproductive harm. If the product you purchased contains wood or composite wood components, the following warnings apply:

Formaldehyde:

Products manufactured by Lozier Corporation may contain composite wood components that contain trace amounts of formaldehyde gas. All composite wood components used at Lozier Corporation are compliant with California Air Resource Board 93120, which requires wood composite products to have minimum levels of formaldehyde.

WARNING: Handling this product may expose you to formaldehyde gas, a chemical known to the State of California to cause cancer. Any potential formaldehyde exposure may be generated from drilling, sawing, or similar heat generating activities. Appropriate precautions should be taken based upon the activity and work environment.

Wood Dust:

Products manufactured by Lozier Corporation may contain wood or composite wood components that may contain wood dust.

WARNING: Drilling, sawing, sanding or machining wood products generates wood dust, a substance known to the State of California to cause cancer. Avoid inhaling wood dust or use a dust mask or other safeguards for personal protection.

To learn more about California Proposition 65, visit the OEHHA's FAQ page for Proposition 65